

Kolfe Summer School 2026

Public program brief

Delivered by MIS in partnership with the Institute for Global Outreach (IGO), the summer program connected learning support with meals for children in Kolfe, Addis Ababa.

Participation and delivery

31 children participated following school-grade review. The program ran for 18 teaching days, three days per week. One main teacher and two assistants supported learning.

Meals and local support

Breakfast and lunch were provided on program days. MIS also mobilized local support for meals.

What these figures show

The figures describe participation and delivery. They do not establish a measured change in academic performance. The summer program forms part of MIS's broader work supporting children and families; its participants should not be added to the wider initiative as a separate total reach.

Learn more or support future work

Contact info@miseth.org to discuss education and nutrition support or request additional program information.

Source

MIS summer-school records and the public project portfolio, September 2026.